MAYOR'S CORNER

JULY 2021

Here comes the sun. First day of Summer and soon we should be mask free. I would like to thank everyone in our Village for their patience and understanding through these difficult times.

Newly retired baby-boomers with a mortgage-free home, love of the outdoors, aversion to traffic and getting to know the neighbors has revitalized Port Alice. Thank you for making this your home.

One of the most interesting changes we are experiencing is the number of businesses that are opening in our area supporting the Port Alice community. I am sure we will do our part and support their initiatives.

Rural communities matter economically despite what city folks might think. This is why we choose Port Alice to be our home.

Bald Eagle

The bald eagle (Haliaeetus leucocephalus) is a bird of prey found in North America. A sea eagle, it has two known subspecies and forms a species pair with the white-tailed eagle (Haliaeetus albicilla). Its range includes most of Canada and Alaska, all of the contiguous United States, and northern Mexico. It is found near large bodies of open water with an abundant food supply and old-growth trees for nesting.

Bald eagles are not actually bald; the name derives from an older meaning of the word, "white headed". The plumage of an adult bald eagle is evenly dark brown with a white head and tail. The tail is moderately long and slightly wedge-shaped. Males and females are identical in plumage coloration, but sexual dimorphism is evident in the species, in that females are 25% larger than males. The plumage of the immature is a dark brown overlaid with messy white streaking until the fifth (rarely fourth, very rarely third) year, when it reaches sexual maturity.

The bald eagle has a body length of 70–102 cm (28–40 in). Typical wingspan is between 1.8 and 2.3 m (5 ft 11 in and 7 ft 7 in) and mass is normally between 3 and 6.3 kg (6.6 and 13.9 lb).

^[6] Females are about 25% larger than males, averaging as much as 5.6 kg (12 lb), and against the males' average weight of 4.1 kg (9.0 lb).

The majority of bald eagles in Canada are found along the British Columbia coast while large populations are found in the forests of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario.

The average lifespan of bald eagles in the wild is around 20 years, with the oldest confirmed one having been 38 years of age.
