MAYORS CORNER OCTOBER 2021

Fall is here, and unfortunately, we are still in this pandemic. The cases here are virtually non-existent and that is due to the diligence of the people in our community. Tolerance and patience got us here.

Port Alice is going through a paradigm shift. This is positive for our community. New businesses opening and house prices are up.

We have been able to obtain a number of grants for the betterment of our community. Our kayak launch facility is in the early stages. We are also investing in some new signage in order to showcase our community. The Village has hired, with grant money, an Economic Development officer which will be a great addition to the team.

Port Alice as part of the tri-community along with First Nations have had numerous meetings with BC Hydro. This is a service that we pay for. It doesn't look like service to me and is not acceptable. What we need here is reliable, clean and affordable power. Hydro has committed and will be working on vegetation management to decrease our frequency of outages.

Our cell tower is under construction with a completion date of December. This will greatly improve our communications.

One avenue of improvement that is needed is the on-going cross contamination at our Village dump site. It is imperative that the homeowner take responsibility as to what is being taken to our facility. If we don't sort it here, it goes to Seven Mile and they sort it for a huge price to us. We cannot afford this. There will be a series of articles in the paper and flyers distributed. Please pay attention to our recycling efforts.

MAYOR CAMERON

Please do not dispose of fruit from trees into the wooded areas for wildlife to consume. Apples and plums are not natural to this area so it will teach them to look for it, which will bring them to town, putting their lives at risk. Thank you for being diligent in picking all the fruit and berries and disposing of rotting fruit in a bear-safe compost or garbage.

Village Council Meetings

Council Meetings are held the 2nd & 4th month in the Sea View Activity Centre at 7pm. We are now able to allow up to 3 spectators within the safe distancing guidelines. We will continue to post agendas ahead of time and questions and/or responses can be sent to info@portalice.ca.

Orca

The killer whale or orca (Orcinus orca) is a toothed whale belonging to the oceanic dolphin family, of which it is the largest member. It is recognizable by its black-and-white patterned body. A cosmopolitan species, killer whales can be found in all of the world's oceans in a variety of marine environments, from Arctic and Antarctic regions to tropical seas; they are absent only from the Baltic and Black seas, and some areas of the Arctic Ocean.

Killer whales have a diverse diet, although individual populations often specialize in particular types of prey. Some feed exclusively on fish, while others hunt marine mammals such as seals and other species of dolphin. They have been known to attack baleen whale calves, and even adult whales. Killer whales are apex predators, as they have no natural predators. They are highly social; some populations are composed of very stable matrilineal family groups (pods) which are the most stable of any animal species. Their sophisticated hunting techniques and vocal behaviours, which are often specific to a particular group and passed across generations, have been described as manifestations of animal culture.

The International Union for Conservation of Nature assesses the orca's conservation status as data deficient because of the likelihood that two or more killer whale types are separate species. Some local populations are considered threatened or endangered due to prey depletion, habitat loss, pollution (by PCBs), capture for marine mammal parks, and conflicts with human fisheries. In late 2005, the southern resident killer whales, which swim in British Columbia and Washington state waters, were placed on the U.S. Endangered Species list.

Wild killer whales are not considered a threat to humans, and no fatal attack on humans has ever been documented. There have been cases of captive orcas killing or injuring their handlers at marine theme parks. Killer whales feature strongly in the mythologies of indigenous cultures, and their reputation in different cultures ranges from being the souls of humans to merciless killers.

Transients and residents live in the same areas, but avoid each other.

Killer whales are apex predators, meaning that they themselves have no natural predators. They are sometimes called "wolves of the sea", because they hunt in groups like wolf packs. Killer whales hunt varied prey including fish, cephalopods, mammals, seabirds, and sea turtles. Different populations or ecotypes may specialize, and some can have a dramatic impact on prey species. However, whales in tropical areas appear to have more generalized diets due to lower food productivity. Killer whales spend most of their time at shallow depths, but occasionally dive several hundred metres depending on their prey.

BC Wildlife Act Fines

Section 33.1 of the BC Wildlife Act makes it an offense to attract dangerous wildlife to land or premises. A person can be liable to a $230 fine, or can be compelled through a Dangerous Wildlife Protection Order (DWPO) to clean up their attractants. If the person does not comply with the DWPO then they are liable to a $575 fine.

BC Strong Start Program

Participate with your young child (aged birth to five) in play-based early learning activities – including stories, music and art. At no cost to families, this early learning drop-in program helps prepare children for success in Kindergarten.

StrongStart BC programs provide rich learning environments designed for early learning development – language, physical, cognitive, social and emotional. Qualified early childhood educators lead learning activities where children find opportunity to make friends and interact with others of similar ages.

The overall learning experience is shared as parents and caregivers attend with their children and are encouraged to get involved in activities like telling stories, playing games and serving healthy snacks. Join us to learn new ways to support your children's learning, get information about community programs and services and make valuable connections with others attending the program.

The Port Alice Strong Start group meets Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9 am to Noon.
