Discouraging Bears at Home

Properly storing or securing residential garbage and other bear attractants is a proven method for discouraging bears and preventing nuisance problems around homes, farms and neighbourhoods.

The following items attract bears and should be properly managed.

Garbage Cans

Pet Food

Feeders

Smokers

Compost Piles

Fruit Trees

Bird Feeders

Wildlife Feeders

BBQ Grills

Livestock Feed

Beehives

Petroleum Products

Nut-Bearing Trees and Shrubs

Small Livestock such as Goats,
Rabbits, Pigs and Chickens

Garbage

Store garbage inside until pick-up. Ensure bins are properly sealed. Wash and clean cans and jars and recycle where appropriate. Freeze pungent wastes until pick-up day. Don't throw cooking oil or grease outside.

Fruit Trees

Pick fruit daily as it ripens or pick it before it ripens if you don't intend to use it. Consider replacing unwanted fruit trees with other trees. Don't allow windfall to accumulate on the ground.

Compost

If your compost stinks, you're doing something wrong. Use a proper compost bin. Turn your compost regularly; cover compost with leaves, lime and soil to reduce odours. Do not put fish, meat, fat, oils, unrinsed eggshells or any cooked foods into your compost.

Small Livestock

Secure pet and livestock feed.
Bring pet dishes indoors.

Yards and Property

- Place birdfeeders out of bears reach and keep the area free of seeds. Avoid using birdfeeders in the summer, spring & fall.
- Clean barbecues after use. Cover and/or store indoors. (Do not take propane tanks indoors.)
- Thin out brush to reduce natural cover close to buildings and along paths.
- Try to leave natural paths of escape for bears that may wander in looking for food.
- Never leave garbage bags, regardless of what's in them, in your yard. Don't leave food or garbage in the back of pick-up trucks - not even one with a canopy.
- Don't store food in outdoor freezers.
- Don't leave coolers or other items that may contain food smells in your yard.
- Enclose beehives with electric fencing.

Homeowner's Checklist

Step 1. Bear-proof your home...

Garbage

- ☐ Keep Garbage in the house, garage or shed until pick-up day.

Fruit Trees

- ☐ Pick ripe fruit and fallen fruit daily.
- ☐ Remove unused fruit trees.

Bird Food

- ☐ Use birdfeeders only in winter
- ☐ Keep ground free of seeds

Barbeque

- ☐ Burn off the grill after each use.
- ☐ Store covered in a secure area.

Pet Food

- ☐ Bring pet dishes inside and clean up any spillage.
- ☐ Store pet food indoors.

Step 2. If you see a bear...

- Remain calm; don't panic. Often the bear is simply looking for food and will move on if it finds nothing to eat.
- Keep away from the bear and go inside and bring children and pets indoors.
- Never approach the bear and do not run from the bear. Do not act submissively by crouching down or whispering.
- Warn others of the bear's presence, but don't do it by yelling
- If the bear climbs a tree, keep people and pets away. Eventually when things quiet down, the bear will come down and leave. This usually happens after dark when the bear feels safe. Once the bear is safely out of the area, check your yard to ensure there are no attractants available.

Step 3. If the bear is threatening, persistent or aggressive...

Call the Conservation Officer Service at 1-877-952-RAPP (7277) or your local police.

For more information on being BEAR AWARE check out our website at www.bearaware.bc.ca

It's Up to You!

More than 1000 bears are killed every year in British Columbia because of bear-human conflicts. Almost all of these bears were attracted into neighbourhoods by improperly stored garbage and other attractants.

Exposure to humans causes bears to lose their natural fear of people. When this happens, bears become a potential threat.

Is your carelessness threatening the safety of your neighbours?

Are your actions responsible for the needless destruction of so many bears?

Humpback Whale

The humpback whale (Megaptera novaeangliae) is a species of baleen whale. It is one of the larger rorqual species, with adults ranging in length from 12–16 m (39–52 ft) and weighing around 25–30 t (28–33 short tons). The humpback has a distinctive body shape, with long pectoral fins and a knobby head. It is known for breaching and other distinctive surface behaviors, making it popular with whale watchers. Males produce a complex song lasting 10 to 20 minutes, which they repeat for hours at a time. All the males in a group will produce the same song, which is different each season. Its purpose is not clear, though it may help induce estrus in females.

Found in oceans and seas around the world, humpback whales typically migrate up to 25,000 km (16,000 mi) each year. They feed in polar waters, and migrate to tropical or subtropical waters to breed and give birth, fasting and living off their fat reserves. Their diet consists mostly of krill and small fish. Humpbacks have a diverse repertoire of feeding methods, including the bubble net technique.

Humpbacks can easily be identified by their stocky body, obvious hump, black dorsal coloring and elongated pectoral fins. The head and lower jaw are covered with knobs called tubercles, which are hair follicles and are characteristic of the species. The fluked tail, which typically rises above the surface when diving, has wavy trailing edges.

Fully grown males average 13–14 m (43–46 ft). Females are slightly larger at 15–16 m (49–52 ft); one large recorded specimen was 19 m (62 ft) long and had pectoral fins measuring 6 m (20 ft) each. The largest humpback on record, according to whaling records, was a female killed in the Caribbean; she was 27 m (89 ft) long with a weight of 90 metric tons (99 short tons), although the reliability of these extremely atypical data is impossible to confirm. The largest measured by the scientists of the Discovery Committee were a female and a male at 14.9 and 14.75 m (48.9 and 48.4 ft) respectively, although this was out of a sample size of only 63 whales. Body mass typically is in the range of 25–30 metric tons (28–33 short tons), with large specimens weighing over 40 metric tons (44 short tons).

BC Wildlife Act Fines

Section 33.1 of the BC Wildlife Act makes it an offense to attract dangerous wildlife to land or premises. A person can be liable to a $230 fine, or can be compelled through a Dangerous Wildlife Protection Order (DWPO) to clean up their attractants. If the person does not comply with the DWPO then they are liable to a $575 fine.

BC Strong Start Program

Participate with your young child (aged birth to five) in play-based early learning activities – including stories, music and art. At no cost to families, this early learning drop-in program helps prepare children for success in Kindergarten.

StrongStart BC programs provide rich learning environments designed for early learning development – language, physical, cognitive, social and emotional. Qualified early childhood educators lead learning activities where children find opportunity to make friends and interact with others of similar ages.

The overall learning experience is shared as parents and caregivers attend with their children and are encouraged to get involved in activities like telling stories, playing games and serving healthy snacks. Join us to learn new ways to support your children's learning, get information about community programs and services and make valuable connections with others attending the program.

The Port Alice Strong Start group meets Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 9 am to Noon.
